

UNIVERSAL FLEXIBLE PACKAGING

BRINGING FLEXIBILITY TO YOUR PACKAGING NEEDS

UFP is a UK based business that has been operating as a supplier of film since 1995.

Universal Flexible Packaging is a family run business.

Started in 1995 as a packaging company, we have grown to become a specialist supplier of film for the food, pet food, healthcare and construction industries, amongst many others.

We have established ourselves as an industry leader in flexible packaging and contract packing solutions. We have expanded into ambient packaging, added cardboard packaging to the portfolio and can now receive, pack, box, label, store and deliver almost anything.

Every development of the company has been in response to, or in anticipation of, our customer's needs.

We innovate for success; we develop to provide a more complete service; we listen; we learn; we improve at every step

That's why, for example, we now have nut-free production facilities and an active recycling and waste reduction policy.

We know that good customer service comes from knowing and understanding our clients, anticipating their needs and being ready to deliver what they want, when they want it.

We do our best to offer a personal service to all sizes of clients, from start up businesses testing the market for a new product to multinationals who want a company that they can rely on to deliver on time, every time.

Universal operates over two sites with a combined working area of 150,000 square feet.

This means we can handle large volumes of orders, so that we can offer 'stock and serve' as an option to our clients. Our ample racking shelf space has enabled us to have the capacity to distribute goods efficiently and to plan. With our fully integrated high tech warehouse system we can effectively distribute, on time, every time.

"Our relationships with our customers, be it small or large, is of utmost importance to us, and our ethos is to always provide a personalised service, leaving the customer satisfied with the service we are providing."

At UFP we are a one stop shop in the food supply chain process...
We design, We print, We pack, We store, We deliver

UFP has worked with a wide range of clients to find the perfect solution to their packaging needs.

We are experts in this field and pride ourselves on finding the answers to allow your products to thrive. We have a close relationship with all of our clients and always offer our professional input to help achieve the very best results.

The consumer goods market changes frequently, and to stay ahead of those changes your packaging designs must not fall behind. Competition must be met with innovation, and this is something we invest in heavily.

We have many years experience in this field, and have a team who thrive on the challenge of finding a new packaging solution.

The print on our own packaging is recognised as being of outstanding quality, and we offer the same high standard to customers who simply want printed film reels with their own designs flawlessly reproduced throughout the entire reel.

Using Flexographic and Rotogravure printing on mono and laminate film reels, we offer up to 11 colours in high quality print, with in-line lamination and cold sealing also available if needed.

Our in-house slitting facilities also means that we can meet your exact specifications, so that the film fits perfectly with your machines – or you can have pre-made bags and pouches, printed or plain, with various options for format and closure. Call us to discuss how we can make your business even better.

We have everything you need, to get your product to the shelves

The Push-pop pouch has specific application in the fields of impulse buying. This format is easy to open, yet secure and flexible. The pouch has a patented perforated line that makes it simple to open for anyone, presenting no problems for younger consumers and those with hand-strength problems.

Applications include snacking items like nuts or dried fruit where it is not intended that the package is re-sealed. The nature of the product and the market means that UFP's ability to brand the entire surface of the pouch maximises your shelf exposure at the time of choosing.

The FlexCan is the answer to a need, one that our customers identified some time ago and we found an answer for. This heavy duty film pouch is stable, stackable, has a wide mouth for easy access and a patented re-sealing strip that means it can be used again and again. All these advantages means it stands out from competitor's products, and has excellent shelf visibility. Although ideal for the snacking market, it also has added value in other applications such as dried fruit for baking and both wet and dry pet foods.

The Stabilio or Quad Bags are designed to offer exceptional point of sale presence as well as reliability and ease of handling. No back seal maximises the available surface area, allowing both faces to be printed in full. The bag is heat sealed, with the seal only visible in the corners. This style is known for being robust, versatile and easy to handle in filling, handling and on shelf impact.

The Doy Pack is a stable based, easy open pouch, designed for single opening and easy recycling. This pack is excellent for shelf display. Suitable for dry packaging, the Doy Pack has the option of laminated layers that create a more than usually efficient barrier against moisture, air and light, making ideal for materials that are rendered unusable by these intrusions. The extra layers also make the pack more puncture-resistant.

Pillow pack or Flow Wrap offers one of the most flexible packaging systems available. The horizontally fed wrapping can be crimped off to create any size or depth of wrap for single or multiple products. The crimp seals are airtight and can also be euro slotted for hanging display, making it a packaging system that is commercially attractive, easy to handle and highly cost effective.

Universal Flexibles, are now able to offer biodegradable film as part of our portfolio.

Our biodegradable film adds value to your product and its environmentally friendly impact makes it stand out to consumers.

Universal Flexibles is committed to reducing its environmental impact and to contributing to a greener future for generations to follow. This is why we have partnered with professional experts and researchers alike to make bio-based compost-able materials and plastics to create a sustainable flexible packaging solution.

The partners who work with us are developing the innovation required to make biodegradable flexible packaging a viable option, which we are now able to provide to our customers. All the biodegradable films we have on offer are the same quality as our non-biodegradable films, including transparency, sealing strength, print quality and flexibility.

Manufacturers get bio-plastics that meet all their manufacturing requirements and that is adaptable to their current packaging and production practices.

Our international partnerships means that we can offer a variety of exclusive and patented flexible packaging options including resin, multiple film structures and laminates. This means that we can offer multiple solutions for all our customers.

If its film you need, we have you covered, with the best quality reels available, at competitive prices...

Plain film

At Uniflexibles we have years of experience dating back to 1995 of providing plain and printed film according to a number of different specifications and requirements. We can supply plain film as VFFS/ laminate films, lidding films and as oven-able and metalised films. We can also supply plain film in a variety of widths and specifications, including and not limited to: high gloss finishes, matt finishes, mono substrates and laminated substrates.

Barrier film

Our barrier films act as a further oxygen and ultraviolet barrier. They have a high mechanical strength and we can provide barrier film in plain or printed film options.

We can supply barrier films in a number of diameters and laminations. Our barrier film options: increase the shelf life of your product, are water resistant, Offer speedy turnarounds, and act as a Ultra violet barrier.

Printed film

The print on our own packaging is recognised as being of outstanding quality, and we offer the same high standard to customers who simply want printed film reels with their own designs flawlessly reproduced throughout the entire reel. Using flexographic and rotogravure printing on mono and laminate film reels, we offer up to 11 colours in high quality print, with in-line lamination, cold sealing, with a choice of gloss or matt film.

Metalised film

Metalised film is coated with a thin layer of aluminium to act as a barrier in reducing the permeability of the film to water, oxygen and light. Metalised films are tougher in quality, have the ability to be heat sealed and are lower in density. We can provide laminating and/or slitting options to our customers. We are also able to dispatch orders to the customer during a short period and maintain stock in our purpose built warehouse facilities.

Our designers

at Universal Flexibles can offer a fully bespoke and in-house design service meaning that whether you're a start-up with just an idea right through to a multinational wanting to develop a brand further, we can help.

At Uniflexibles, our graphics and design team can work with you from the early stages of a design, its printing stage through to the complete package and conversion.
